London Metropolitan University

London Metropolitan University offers an inclusive and supportive academic community in one of the world's most exciting capital cities. With a strong focus on student success, practical learning and outstanding support services, London Met empowers students from all backgrounds to achieve their goals and build successful futures.

Education that puts students first

London Met is dedicated to transforming lives through education. Recognised nationally for adding value through its teaching (The Guardian University Guide 2026), the University focuses on helping students achieve beyond expectations, whatever their starting point. With an inclusive learning environment and a personalised approach to teaching, students are supported academically, professionally and personally throughout their studies.

Learning for real-world success

Courses at London Met are designed with employability in mind, combining academic knowledge with hands-on practical experience. Many programmes include work-based learning such as placements, live client projects or on-campus work experience, helping students develop the skills employers value most. Strong industry links, specialist facilities and dedicated careers support ensure graduates are well prepared for the workplace or further study.

Our International Study Centre

We are committed to helping you have an unforgettable experience at London Metropolitan University. Our friendly staff at the International Study Centre are here to offer dedicated support and advice, and we organise a range of exciting activities to help you settle into life in the UK. You'll also have full access to university facilities, so you can get involved in campus life from day one.

The International Study Centre is located at London Metropolitan University's Holloway Campus, one of the university's main teaching campuses in North London. Just a short journey from Central London, the campus offers easy access to the capital's world-class culture, career opportunities and attractions, while providing a welcoming and supportive environment at the heart of the London Met community.

You will benefit from:

Small class sizes

You will study a range of subject modules in small, interactive, and supportive classes with a focus on your personal development to help you achieve, succeed, and grow.

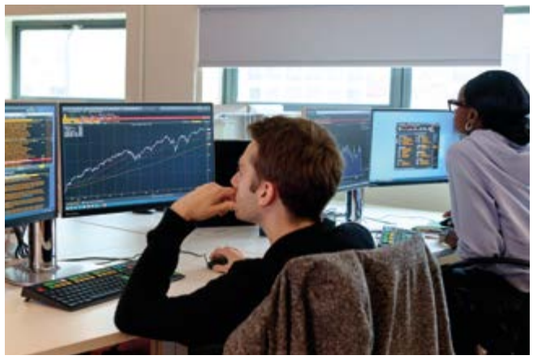

University-style teaching

Through every step of your journey with us, you will be supported by highly qualified teachers. You will adapt to university-style teaching whilst building your abilities to study effectively through 20 hours of class teaching per week and regular personal tutorial sessions.

Dedicated support team

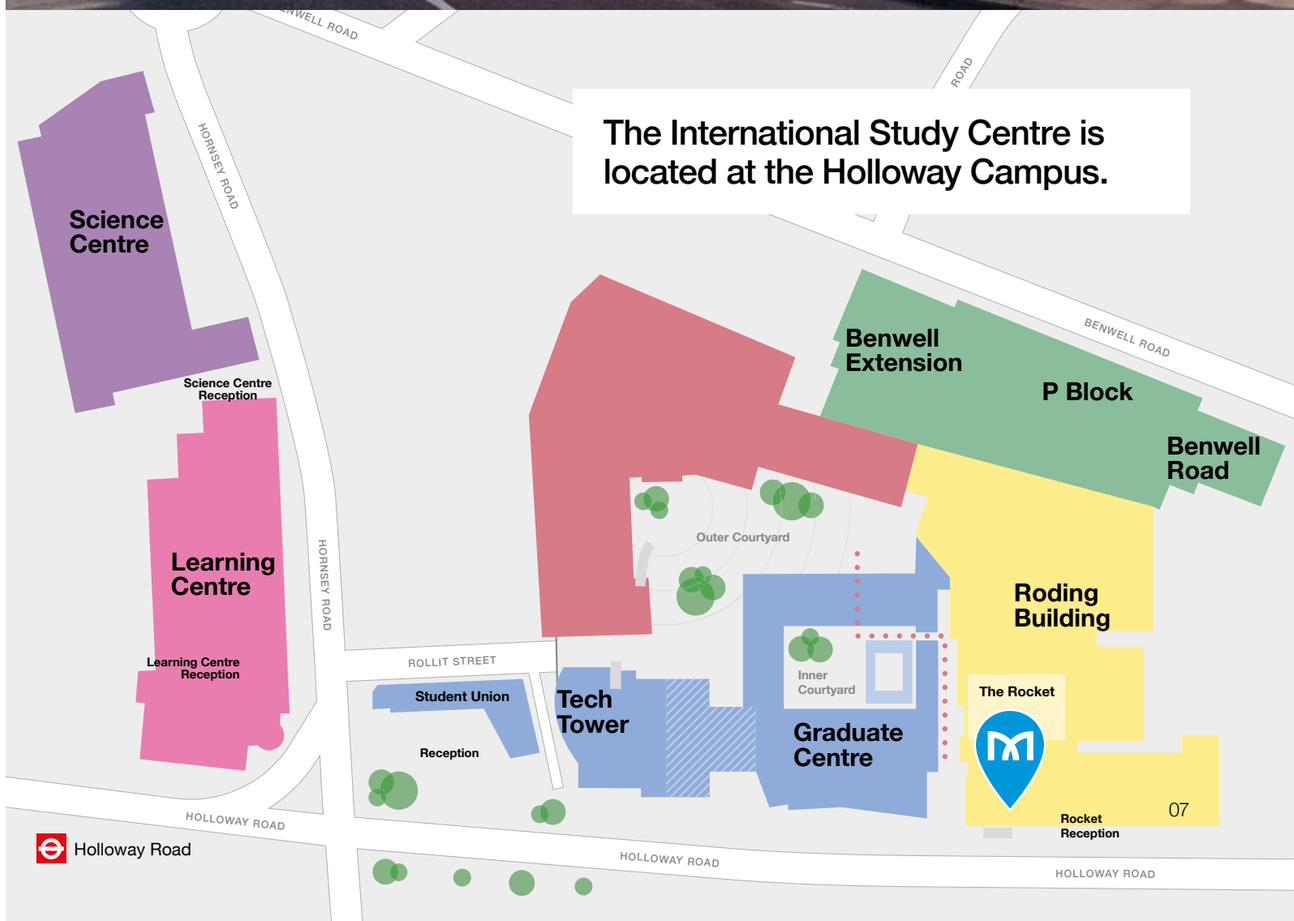

Your personal tutor will meet with you regularly to ensure you are on track to pass the programme and progress to your chosen degree, and to help address any issues you might have inside or outside classes.

Access to University facilities from day one

You will have access to the fully equipped library and online resources, the Students' Union, and the student support team, which will immerse you in the on-campus experience.

The International Study Centre is located at the Holloway Campus.

Student life

Studying at London Metropolitan University is about much more than gaining a degree. It's your chance to become part of a diverse, inclusive and energetic student community, based in the heart of one of the world's most exciting cities. From joining societies and sports teams to getting involved in creative projects and social events, student life at London Met offers countless opportunities to develop new skills, meet people from all backgrounds and make the most of your time at university.

Careers and employability

London Met is strongly focused on preparing students for life after graduation. Its dedicated careers and employability support provides one-to-one advice, CV and application guidance, interview preparation, and access to work placements and internships.

Students benefit from strong links with employers and industry professionals, as well as ongoing careers support that continues even after graduation, helping you take confident steps towards your future career.

Students' Union

As a London Metropolitan University ISC student, you automatically become a member of the Students' Union from day one. The Students' Union supports, represents and enriches student life by offering advice and guidance on academic and personal matters while also campaigning to improve opportunities for students.

Sports, fitness and wellbeing

Staying active at London Met is easy, with excellent sports and fitness facilities available to students. Our campuses offer gyms with state-of-the-art cardiovascular equipment, fitness studios, dance studios, a full-sized basketball court, and dedicated exercise rooms.

Students can take part in a wide range of fitness classes, as well as health and wellbeing activities such as personal training, mindfulness and yoga. Friendly staff are always on hand to help you get started and find activities that suit your lifestyle. Sports include:

- Badminton
- Basketball
- Cheerleading
- Football
- Netball
- Volleyball

Study in central London

As one of the world's most dynamic and diverse cities, London offers an unforgettable student experience. Home to world-class culture, history and innovation, the city provides endless opportunities for learning beyond the classroom.

From globally renowned museums, theatres and galleries to thriving creative industries and financial centres, London is a hub for opportunity. Its vibrant neighbourhoods, excellent transport links and multicultural communities make it an exciting and inspiring place to live and study.

"The main reason I chose London Metropolitan University is its accreditation, which is highly beneficial for my field. The course is accredited by many professional bodies, and I plan to pursue ICAEW, the chartered accountancy body of England and Wales. Another reason is the location – London is a global financial hub. Studying here will give me valuable exposure to the financial environment and institutions, which is crucial for my career."

"Growing up in Ghana, I had friends who passed away from malaria, so I developed a passion to conduct more research into malaria and help develop more effective medication against different strains of malaria. My MSc project at London Met which was carried out in the very well-equipped Science Centre was focused on developing a new and more effective anti-malarial drug range called GDH-inhibitor antimalarials. With help from my supervisory team at London Met, I was successful in synthesising a very pure form of this potential anti-malarial medication. These will eventually need to undergo clinical trials before being used as anti-malarials."

“London Met was so supportive. Honestly, I do not remember a time when I had to reach out to one of the lecturers and they were not available. It always felt very inclusive – walking about in the library, you would look around and see this diversity of people. I did some work experience abroad in Sri Lanka shadowing psychiatrists in the country, visiting psychiatric facilities. It was completely different from anything I had ever faced. We learned how they approach people who are addicted to drugs, the stigma in the country and how religion fits into it all.”

"London Met has provided me not only new friends, but just new learning experiences as well. One of my favourite things about studying here is the variety of different classes that we have at London Met. In my bachelor's degree, classes were not all too different from one another. Here, I get to learn about more subtopics in marketing, as well as meet many more academics who are so knowledgeable about the field. It was really fun being able to present a creative project and show off what we've learned throughout the lessons and what we're able to bring to life."

Your guide to London

London is one of the most diverse and cosmopolitan cities in the world. Over 300 languages are spoken, and there are almost limitless social and cultural experiences to enjoy – from music to museums and theatres to sports events.

Emirates Stadium is home to Arsenal F.C. and welcomes over 60,000 fans on matchdays, located just moments from London Met's Holloway campus.

Over 192 museums with 11 national museums including the British Museum.

Borough Market and Camden Market are some of the most famous street food markets.

Camden is one of London's most vibrant neighbourhoods, famous for its markets, live music scene and canalside culture at Camden Market.

Buckingham Palace is the official London residence of the British monarch. The famous Changing of the Guard attracts visitors from around the globe.

Islington blends village charm with city living, known for its independent boutiques, theatres and the popular dining spots along Upper Street.

River Thames is the longest river in England and the second-longest in the United Kingdom.

One of the fashion capitals of the world, alongside Paris, Milan, and New York. It hosts the biannual London Fashion Week, one of the high-profile fashion events globally.

Home to the world's most iconic transport system. The London Tube connects you to sights across the city or jump on a double decker bus to sightsee some of the world's most iconic buildings.

More than 800 bookshops and over 325 public libraries including the British Library, which holds the Magna Carta.

From musicals and plays to opera and movie premiers, London boasts hundreds of entertainment facilities to keep you up-to-date on popular culture.

24,000 restaurants in London, from high-end dining experiences to low-cost takeaway options.

Accommodation

Where you live is an important part of your university experience. London is one of the world's most exciting student cities, offering a unique mix of culture, career opportunities, and vibrant neighbourhoods. Studying at London Metropolitan University means you can choose accommodation that suits your lifestyle, budget, and level of independence.

Students have access to a range of accommodation options, including university halls of residence and homestay, all offering a safe and supportive environment while you study.

Please note: London Metropolitan University does not own or manage any halls of residence or accommodation. All halls and accommodation featured on this site are privately owned, therefore applications must be submitted directly to the hall provider.

This is a sample of the accommodation options available. Students are encouraged to explore all options early to secure accommodation that best meets their needs. Please scan here for more details:

Halls of residence

London Metropolitan University works with a number of purpose-built student halls located across London, offering convenient access to campuses, excellent transport links, and a lively student community.

Halls of residence are ideal for students who want to live independently while enjoying the social benefits of student life.

Typical features include:

- Private single study bedrooms
- Options for en-suite or shared bathroom facilities
- Shared kitchen and dining areas
- Furnished rooms with bed, study space, storage, and seating
- Free Wi-Fi and utilities included
- On-site security and support services
- Social spaces for studying, relaxing, and meeting other students

Halls vary in size, layout, and price, allowing students to choose an option that best fits their preferences and budget.

Please note: Availability, room types, contract lengths, and costs vary depending on the residence.

Optivo - Goldsmiths House

Type: Single rooms

Distance: 1.9 miles from Holloway campus

Cost: £230 per week

Axo Camden

Type: Studios

Distance: 1.7 miles from Holloway campus

Cost: £404 per week

Chapter - Highbury

Type: En-suite rooms

Distance: 0.1 miles from Holloway campus

Cost: £369 per week

Homestay accommodation

Homestay is a popular option for students who would like a more personal living experience and the opportunity to immerse themselves in UK culture.

Students live with a carefully selected host in London, offering a welcoming home environment and additional support for those studying in the UK for the first time.

Homestay benefits include:

- A private bedroom in a family home
- A safe, supportive, and friendly environment
- Options with meals included
- An opportunity to practise English in everyday situations
- Hosts located within commuting distance of the university

Homestay accommodation provides comfort, cultural exchange, and peace of mind while studying in London.

Private accommodation

Private accommodation offers students the chance to live independently in flats, houses, or rooms rented from private landlords. It provides flexibility and the opportunity to choose who you live with, while often being more affordable than halls of residence.

Students can live alone, share a flat with friends, or rent a room in a shared house. The university provides access to services like Student Pad to help find properties and connect with potential housemates.

Benefits of private accommodation include:

- A variety of housing options across London
- Flexible tenancy agreements
- Opportunities to live with friends or choose housemates
- Potentially lower rent than student halls

Students should be prepared to manage utility bills and understand their rights and responsibilities as tenants.

Private accommodation provides independence, choice, and a chance to experience London life outside of university-managed housing.

Next steps

1. Application:

Submit your application online: isc.londonmet.ac.uk/apply or scan the QR code below

Our team will contact you to submit your supporting documents:

- A copy of your passport
- A copy of your academic transcript and certificate
- Proof of your English language level (UKVI IELTS or equivalent)
- A Personal Statement

Additional documentation may be required depending on your application. If our team need more information, we will let you know.

2.Admissions assessment:

Our Admissions team will review your application and documents. Some students may be called for pre-screening so keep an eye out for a call from us.

3. Offer letter:

We will send you an offer letter. It may be conditional, and we'll let you know what we will need from you, or it will be unconditional. If we think the course is not right for you, we will suggest an alternative.

4. Accept your offer:

To hold your place on the course, you will need to meet all the remaining conditions. We can only confirm your place once all conditions have been met and the deposit paid. Please note that if you require a visa to study with us, you may need to provide additional evidence to comply with the visa regulations in the UK. You may also need to pass a credibility interview. We'll let you know more about how to prepare.

5. CAS issued:

Once you have paid your remaining fees, met all the conditions of offer, and passed a credibility interview if required, we will confirm your place and send you a Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS). You will need this to obtain a visa. Please note a CAS can only be issued up to six months before the start of the course (if you apply from outside the UK) or up to three months (if you are eligible to apply from within the UK).

6. Apply for visa:

You will then need to apply for your visa. It is your responsibility to obtain a visa before you travel to join the course. If you do not have a valid visa for studies in the UK, you will not be able to join the course.

7. Arrival:

You should arrive on the weekend before the start date of the course. Please tell us when you are coming. We will send you pre-arrival information about your course and life in the UK.

We look forward to welcoming you.
